Peter Trovato returns to Massachusetts for interviews

• Veterans day – November 11, 2005 – Peter Trovato returns to Massachusetts for several interviews. The MSLFund was very fortunate to get a great deal of press coverage on Veterans day. Peter Trovato was interviewed by CNN and New England Cable News, as well as several other media sources. Even though we are a Massachusetts charity, our national press coverage brought us several donations from out of state. One check arrived from North Carolina, with a note that read “Finally, some real support for our troops”. All of us at the MSLFund were touched by the support we received around Veterans day. Another highlight was when one envelope was opened with a check from a North Shore couple for $5000. We had not solicited them, or approached them at all. They just believed in our mission and showed their support with a very generous contribution.
